Percent for Art Projects

Percent for Art projects were a large focus during 2004, as several pieces were installed and completed.

In the winter, Chinese artist Hai Ying Wu was commissioned to create a new sports-themed artwork for Grass Lawn Park. The piece, depicting a female softball player winding up for a pitch, was installed in early 2005.

"The First Pitch"

The Redmond Fire Fighter's Plaza and Percent for Art Project "A Helping Hand" by Oregon artist, Judy Phipps was dedicated April 1st at Redmond Downtown's Fire Station 11. The event was very well attended by a large contingent of Redmond Fire Department personnel as well as community members, City staff, boards, commissions, the Mayor and Council.

Fire Fighter's Plaza Dedication for "A Helping Hand"

The Grand Opening of the new Perrigo Community Park on July 31st featured the dedication of Green Field and Aviary, a series of "art"ifacts placed in screened-in columns at the entrance and along the trail around the park.

Cast concrete "art"ifacts at Perrigo Community Park dot the fence that surrounds the baseball and soccer fields. Walkers and joggers can discover elements of Green Field and Aviary along the paved trail.

The "art"ifacts, related to the activities and flora and fauna in the park, were created and designed into the park by Glenn Herlihy and Elizabeth Conner. This Percent for Art project was three years in the making and adds interesting visual relief to this great new community park in southeast Redmond.

New Municipal Campus Art

Artists were selected to design the artwork for the new City Hall and parking garage by the Artist Selection Panels in August. The panels were convened by 4Culture, hired by developer Wright Runstad, to administer the arts projects being included. Ed Carpenter of Portland, Oregon was selected for City Hall. Blue McRight and Warren Wagner of Venice, California will create integrated art for the parking garage.

Other Art Projects

A temporary exhibit & opening by the National Alliance for Mentally Ill (NAMI) in the fall featured work by participants in the NAMI art workshops.
